The male prisoner is ill and was allowed to be seated in the dock. Laura Jackson was continually and ostentatiously administering to him sips of water. The testimony was a reiteration of previous evidence, but the proceedings were enlivened by several brisk passages between the presiding magistrate and the female prisoner, the latter informing the court she was tired of his evident partiality for the witnesses.

CROSS CHANNEL SUBMARINES.

Travel Between Britain and France May Be Revolutionized.

From London Daily Mail. To make a voyage from Calais to Dover in a submarine passenger vessel may seem a project destined to be realized only in the dim and distant future; but there are those in this country who think that before very long we may have a submarine Channel steamer with as little hesitation as we now embark on the underground railway.

The Channel Channel service, is due to M. Emile Duboc, who in M. Vuillemin's Journal Le Yacht, demonstrates the feasibility of the daring scheme. I saw M. Duboc this morning and obtained from him some further information on this interesting subject. The type of submarine proposed is a small, fast, and powerful vessel, capable of making a round trip between France and England in the Goulet.

"Don't you really believe that we may have hope to utilize this submarine for passenger service?" I asked M. Duboc. "Yes," he replied; "do."

"What shall be gain by so doing?" I asked. "One advantage would be the absence of sea-sickness. The submarine would travel at a uniform depth of 45 feet to 50 feet and would be guided by a steel wire over which it would be drawn by electric motors. It would be in the water in a horizontal position, having no stoppages, and move at a minimum speed of 20 knots an hour.

"Another advantage is that the submarine vessel would be hindered by fog, and passengers and mails would never incur the delays which so often impede Channel traffic in the winter time. Neither would rough weather affect the submarine, the depth at which the vessel travels would obviate the risk of the collisions which are so frequent on the surface."

"How about breathing down below?" I asked. "It would not be more difficult than the Metropolitan railway," replied M. Duboc. "When the air in the Goulet becomes vitiated it is expelled and is replaced by fresh air."

When I remarked that the journey from Calais to Dover would entail a somewhat lengthy stay underneath the waves, M. Duboc said that the Goulet submarine had more than once been submerged with the captain and three or four men for six hours at a time, and that they had suffered no inconvenience.

"How can the captain see his course when he is in the depths of the sea?" I asked. "He uses a telescope optical tube invented by M. Goulet in 1890, and since approved by the committee of the Goulet submarine. By means of a vertical lens emerging from a dome above the surface of the sea, the captain can obtain a clear view of the horizon."

M. Duboc showed me a drawing of the model for the submarine passenger vessel, which measures 80 feet long and is intended to be manned by a crew of five men. M. Goulet has been experimenting with his invention for 20 years, and although the State has hindered rather than helped him, he is not discouraged.

SEVERE TESTS FOR STEEL.

There Are Various Kinds of Metal That Require Different Treatments.

From Scientific American. It is the popular idea that steel is a hard polished metal like a dagger or a razor and capable of carrying a cutting edge; but there are steels of various kinds that do not possess the qualities mentioned. Structural steels, for example, are made of a coarse and rough rolled bars, generally has a much higher tensile strength, elasticity and toughness than the ordinary steel, and through the same rolls at the same heat, not even an expert could distinguish one from the other if they were laid side by side. Moreover, structural steels are subjected to the severest tests of fatigue and resistance to crushing strains of long duration which they will endure in the most satisfactory manner without any loss of strength, but the downward bending and the straightening, which is far more serious than any testing machine can do, is not tested in an ordinary steel, and a straight line, gradually increasing up to failure under it, but the duty imposed upon

ANCIENT MANUSCRIPT.

A Find in an English Library By Dr. Peterson.

A discovery of much importance to classical scholars was made by Dr. Peterson, principal of McGill University, Montreal, during his trip to England last summer. In the library of Lord Leicester, at Holfordham, he found a ninth century manuscript, which has proved to be a book of the greatest value to students of Cicero. Regarding Dr. Peterson's find, the current number of the Classical Review says: Dr. Peterson, of McGill University, Montreal, has discovered the lost Codes Melitensis of Cicero in a ninth century manuscript of Lord Leicester's library at Holfordham. A facsimile from this Codex appeared some twelve or thirteen years ago in Chateaufort, Paleographie de Classiques Latins, but otherwise nothing has been known of it till now. By deciphering an erased library mark, Dr. Peterson has proved that the manuscript was once at Chini, and is, in fact, the volume numbered 408 in the catalogue of 1157-1161.

Dr. Peterson's find contains the Catilinarian, Ciceronian and Veronian orations. It was, as its book mark shows, one of the books of the library of the reformed Benedictine monastery of Chini, in France, which was sacked by the Huguenots in 1562. Principal Peterson sent a copy of the book mark to Mr. Leopold Delisle, of the Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris, and obtained a confirmation of this history.

Queen Adelaide Reaches Port

Brings Heavy Cargo From the Orient—Japanese Steamship Disaster.

Letter Received Yesterday From One of the Tillikum's Voyagers.

Steamer Queen Adelaide arrived at the outer wharf yesterday morning after a rough trip from the Orient, being delayed three days by heavy gales encountered off the coast of Japan, which prevented her making much headway. The storm was encountered during the time the steamer cleared from Kobe, and when a day out she passed the China Mutual steamer Yangtze inbound to Kobe, laboring like the Queen Adelaide in the confused seas caused by the heavy winds. It was a stormy trip throughout. The Queen Adelaide brought a total cargo of 5,200 tons of freight, of which she landed 192 tons, mostly sugar, at the outer wharf.

From Kobe she brought news of the loss of the Tsuruhiko Maru, a Japanese steamer of 2,000 tons, engaged in carrying coal from Kobe to Hongkong, with a crew of 50 all told, and of this company, but one man escaped the wreck. The steamer, which was owned by Messrs. Okura & Co., of Tokyo, left Kobe for Keelung on October 4 and after loading her cargo at Moji, she put to sea, and on the morning of October 7 went ashore on Mejima island, in Goto archipelago, and soon became a total wreck. But one of the crew reached shore. The Tsuruhiko Maru was formerly the Chitanago, and was purchased by her Japanese owners at a cost of 130,000 yen.

Chinese papers received by the Queen Adelaide have references to the expected death of Li Hung Chang, news of which has been received by the steamer. The Li Hung Chang's illness is acute dysentery, and the general break-up of old age. His heart is at times very irregular, and his death might occur at any time. Hsu Shouping is generally recognized by natives and foreigners alike as the most able member of the foreign office to replace him. Prince Ching never decides anything, it is always Hsu Shouping.

FROM THE TILLIKUM.

N. K. Luxton Writes of the Tillikum's Trip's Through Southern Seas.

A letter was received yesterday by Mr. Ormond, the Government street stationer, from N. K. Luxton, one of the crew of the schooner-rigged canoe yacht Tillikum, the four-ton craft in which they have made such a long ocean voyage. The letter, which is dated from Apia, Samoa, on October 12, says that after 58 days at sea, without seeing a sail, the Tillikum reached Apia, and was when the letter was written, 6,490 miles to the rear of the bookstall at 92 Government street. Mr. Luxton writes briefly, saying that he will write fuller details of the voyage after the Tillikum's arrival at Sava, in the Fiji, whither she started to cruise after leaving Apia. The course followed by the little vessel the writer gives as follows: "True to the longitudes 124 to 126 south, as far as latitude 11 north, where we enjoyed ourselves for 15 days in heavy gales, with rain and dirty weather. We gave up the Tahiti course after these storms and shaped southwest, and crossed the equator at longitude 145, and thence to Penrhyn island, and after a short stay there, on to Humphrey island, Danger island, and thence to Apia. From Apia the writer, and J. C. Voss, intend to go to Sydney and thence by stages to the Mediterranean."

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY.

This is the sixtieth anniversary of the birth of His Majesty the King, who was born on November 9, 1841. There is very little to be said in this connection that has not already been told on other recent occasions. The people of Canada most heartily congratulate His Majesty upon attaining his sixty-first birthday and trust that he may enjoy many happy returns of the anniversary.
During the brief time that His Majesty has occupied the throne, he has exhibited kindly qualities, and given promise that his reign will be as successful as that of his august and lamented mother. There was a time when the British people wondered if ever they could join as heartily in acclamations of loyalty and esteem to any other monarch as they had for years done to Her late Majesty, but it is no exaggeration to say that they speak as much from the heart as ever before when on this auspicious day they unite in the toast:

"THE KING: GOD BLESS HIM!"
TRADE OF THE NORTH.

The Sheriff of Dawson has been interviewed in Dawson and has made some very interesting predictions concerning the Yukon and its future. We shall reproduce his remarks in full on another occasion for they ought to be carefully considered by the business people of Victoria and the government of Canada. Our own view, based upon what has come to our knowledge from various sources, is fully in accord with his anticipations. That the Klondike is anything like near exhaustion is not pretended by any one, and a region, which produces almost if not quite $30,000,000 of placer gold yearly is of itself worthy of the greatest consideration. But it is not upon its placers alone that the Klondike district depends for its future importance. Well-informed people say that its quartz mines will equal the gravels in productiveness and necessarily be more lasting. They may be more expensive to operate than the placers, but while this makes a difference as far as individual owners are concerned, it is better for the country as a whole, as it will give employment to more people and hence make a better market for all kinds of merchandise. But the Klondike is not all of the Golden North by any manner of means. Every one admits this now, for it would be folly to deny it in view of the discoveries of the last two years. The Sheriff's estimate of 100,000 population for Dawson within five years may not prove excessive, but if it is, there is no reasonable ground for doubt that within that period the population of the Canadian Yukon will not be very far short of what that of British Columbia now is.
We submit to the people of this city that this is a consideration of prime importance to them, and that it is their duty to give their attention to all questions bearing upon the trade of this region.

Too large a proportion of the Yukon trade is in the hands of the great American companies operating in the North from San Francisco as a base.
They own their own sea-going vessels and their own river fleet. They have large capital and can buy everything to the best advantage. They can afford to hold goods for an indefinite period. One of their representatives has said that they can land general merchandise at Dawson on a cent a pound freight. Of course it is utterly out of the question for small traders to compete with such concerns. They cannot use the lower river, because they cannot provide themselves with the necessary transportation facilities, and it would be highly unreasonable to expect under existing circumstances a freight rate over the White Pass Route as low as the cost via the river.

It is not our intention to suggest any plan whereby Canadian dealers can be put upon an equal footing with the big American companies. Perhaps nothing effective can be devised, but at any rate it will only be after close discussion and careful calculation that anything can be planned which will meet the necessities of the case. Our object in this article is simply to open the question as one that calls for the immediate and earnest consideration of merchants and public men. If we are to have within a decade a quarter of a million people resident in the Yukon and engaged in winning placer or lode gold, we know that nearly everything that they will need must be carried in from the South.
Certain things can be grown there, but it will be in the Yukon as it is in British Columbia, farming will be the last thing that a man will turn his attention to.
The very great majority of those who seek their fortunes in the North engage in mining or something else that will afford them at least a chance of getting rich quickly. This reason, if no other, will operate to prevent any very considerable number of people engaging in farming in the North. Hence the shipment of goods to that part of the country will continue to be very much larger in proportion to the population than to other parts of the Dominion, the mining districts of British Columbia alone, probably, excepted. Hence also the extreme importance of considering the questions hinted at above.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT CLUBS.

Some weeks ago the Colonist suggested the formation of local improvement clubs. The suggestion was made after conversation with a prominent Victorian who takes much interest in everything of a public nature. Since then another well-known citizen has asked if we knew anything about the local improvement clubs in Seattle, which he said are doing very excellent work. Our information in regard to them is only of a very general kind, but from the frequent references made to them in the local papers one would judge that they were very busy and were making themselves very useful. The object of the clubs is indicated by their name. Primarily it is to promote individual effort at improvements, but they also, when occasion demands, take part in the advocacy of public improvements. It follows that they are strictly non-political.

In Victoria there might be several such clubs. One might be organized for Victoria West, another for James Bay, another for "The Hill," another for Pandora street and vicinity, another for the district around the Fountain and another for Spring Ridge. These would take in the whole city, and they would form an organization that would be able to accomplish very much towards making the city attractive and bring about necessary sanitary and other improvements. They would, of course, be of little value unless the membership was active and some little enthusiasm in the work was excited. In Seattle membership is not confined to property owners, but householder are welcomed, because one of the great aims is to induce every person occupying a dwelling to make its surroundings as attractive as possible.
The clubs bring about the accomplishment of small improvements, which mean much to the locality where they are made. Who will lead the way to the establishment of such organizations here?

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

His Majesty has seen fit to signalize the return of the Heir Apparent from his colonial tour by creating him Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester. As few people now living have had their attention specially drawn to such an event a few particulars concerning these historical titles may not be amiss. These titles are not hereditary, but are conferred at the Sovereign's pleasure, and the patent testifies that the holder of them is conferred in the same by the "ensigns of honor, the girding on of a sword, the delivery of a cap and placing it on his head, with a ring on his finger and a golden staff in his hand according to custom." These things are done by the hands of the parents of the Prince. The origin of the title Prince of Wales is generally known. Edward I. promised the Welsh a prince "who should be free from any stain upon his honor and unable to speak a word of English," and he fulfilled his pledge by arranging that his first child, who proved fortunately to be a son, should be born in Wales. This was in 1284, and it was intended that the title should be hereditary, but in the reign of Edward II. it was declared that thereafter the title should be conferred by individual investiture. The title of Earl of Chester seems to have been conferred first upon the Black Prince, after his great defeat of the Welsh at Chester. It was at one time doubted if any person except the oldest son of the reigning monarch could become Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester, and Sir Edward Coke expressed the opinion that only the eldest son of the Sovereign could be made Duke of Cornwall. In the reign of Richard II. it was enacted that the title of the Earl of Chester could only be descended, but the Courts of England have treated all the legislation of that particular parliament as though it never existed. As Selden put it, "the whole Parliament was repealed." The title, Duke of York, was conferred upon his present holder somewhat irregularly, for the custom was to give it only to the second son of the King, and in 1592, when he was invested with it, he was only the son of the Prince of Wales.
The title Prince of Wales takes precedence of all others, and by it the Heir Apparent will hereafter be known. He will likewise be entitled to use the well-known emblem of three ostrich plumes and the motto "Ich Dien." He is also entitled to wear a distinctive coronet, which consists of a band surmounted by a single arch, on which is placed the orb. The coronet is of gold only and has no jewels. The Principality of Wales and the Earldom of Chester are never in abeyance. His Majesty did not cease to be Prince of Wales, when he ascended the throne, the title was simply merged in his greater title of King, but under the terms of the ancient grant the title can go only to the first begotten son of the King of England." This suggests that possibly there may be a departure from the established rule in the present case, but as the King is the fountain of honor, he has undoubted power to alter the grant or to interpret it so as to authorize the conferring of the title upon his second son.

In the reign of James I. it was expressly decided that where the eldest son of the King dies, the second son might become Duke of Cornwall, but not Prince of Wales. Under this rule or some variation of it, Henry VI. and Edward VI. were Dukes of Cornwall before ascending the throne, but were never Princes of Wales, and Richard II. and George III. were Princes of Wales, but never Dukes of Cornwall.

AN ELECTION DECISION.

To a layman the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada in the Burrard election case will seem extraordinary reading. We print it elsewhere, and draw attention specially to it. It will be observed that the judgment of Mr. Justice Martin of the Supreme Court of British Columbia was sustained on the authority of the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in the Lisgar case. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada dissented from the majority of the court in the latter case, yet he declares himself bound by it in the Burrard case, which means that he thinks both of them have been wrongly decided. Mr. Justice Gwynne's judgment is of interest for the reason that while he does not say that he dissents from the decision in the Lisgar case, he does not admit himself to be bound by it if he should be convinced that the decision had been erroneous. Naturally the matter is one upon which lawyers will have more to say than any one else, but the position taken by the Chief Justice to a layman suggests that a court would not reverse its own decision, even when it knew it was wrong. We fancy that the explanation of such an apparent anomaly is that the point is one of practice and that to secure uniformity in this respect, the court felt constrained to adhere to a decision which it was not satisfied had been properly made.

B. C. AGRICULTURE.

The Colonist has printed on the last two or three mornings reports of meetings of Farmers' Institutes, in which very much valuable information has been given. It is only an act of justice to a gentleman, long identified with British Columbia politics, but now out of the field, to say that not only these meetings, but other similar gatherings and the circulation of large quantities of valuable literature among the farmers of this province are due to the policy inaugurated and shaped by Mr. J. H. Turner, Agent-General of the Province at London. The enthusiasm of Mr. Turner in regard to the advancement of agriculture in this province was conspicuous. He never allowed a budget speech to pass, and scarcely ever spoke in public on politics, without taking care to say something about the immense importance to British Columbia of its agriculture, and the wisdom of devising means whereby its interests could be promoted.
The meetings above referred to are arranged by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, which also secures the attendance of the lecturers. The Times, unintentionally no doubt, seems inclined to give the credit for these things to the Federal Department of Agriculture, but is in error in that regard. In saying this we do not wish to be understood as saying anything which will in the least detract from the very great credit due to Mr. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, for the admirable work done by him for the promotion of Canadian agriculture generally, and to which it has given us much pleasure to refer in former issues of the Colonist.

A Hamburg school teacher recently undertook to find out what his pupils knew about common things. Out of 120 children he gave 10 of them 10c. 58 had never seen a flock of sheep, 70 had never seen a violet growing, 80 had never heard of a nightingale, 90 had never seen a rose, and 93 had never seen it set. 49 had never seen a man plow. He asserts that while city children may know about theatres and concerts, exhibitions, museums and stores, hundreds of the simplest things in life are more words to them than convey no coherent ideas.

The Battles of Life

Demand Nerve Force, Energy, Vitality —The Weaklings Go To The Wall—Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food a True Fountain of Health.

What use has the world for men and women who have not courage enough to face the battles of life? Every day men are failing and women are growing discouraged and despondent because they lack the nerve force which is absolutely necessary to health and strength, and which supplies energy and ambition to body and mind. It is not too much to attribute nine-tenths of the sufferings of humanity to waning nerve power, the vital principle of life itself.

Is it any wonder that the heart's action grows weak and irregular, the digestion poor, the liver and kidneys sluggish and inactive, when the vital force stored up in the nerves is consumed or wasted by disease, worry or over-exertion of the mental and physical powers?
We are living too far from nature's rhythms, burning the candle at both ends and wasting nerve force without thought of how it is to be replenished. The effects are carelessly overlooked until prestation, nervous collapse or insanity overcomes us, and renders restitution next to impossible.

First of Season.—The first of a series of Saturday afternoon matinees will be given in the A. O. U. W. hall this afternoon.

Contract Let.—The Department of Lands and Works let a contract yesterday for the building of a school house at Anacoda, in the Rossland district.

Free Reading Room.—The free reading room for which a number of residents of Victoria West have been working for several months, will be opened on Tuesday evening, the Grove saloon on the Esquimalt road having been secured for the purpose.

Railway Work.—Only a small staff of men are now engaged on the work of extending the V. & S. railway into the city, but it is understood that many more will be employed shortly, and in a couple of months the locomotives will be able to come into the city proper. The work is being carried on under the supervision of Mr. T. W. Patterson.

The Waspette Ball.—An "impression" having gone abroad that the ball given in the hall on Thursday evening was a fleet ball, the Colonist has been asked an entertainment given by Captain Koppel and the officers of the Waspette to their personal friends. The Colonist was in error in saying that the officers of the Phœnix and Condor were hosts, for they were present as guests only.

Message of Sympathy.—On receipt of the news of the death of Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Benevolent Association of Victoria cabled to His Excellency Sir Chichester Lefeville, ambassador of China at the Court of St. James, expressing the sympathy of the Chinese residents of Canada and their deep regret at the loss sustained by the Chinese empire. The despatch was signed by Lu Cheong, president, and Mong Kow, secretary.

Bridge Tenders.—A number of tenders from United States and Canadian firms have been received for the construction of the new bridge at Point Ellice. They will be received up to Monday. They will probably be considered at a special meeting next week. Messrs. Dana & Fowler, of the Puget Sound Bridge company, are here to tender. It is understood that application has been made for a further extension of time for the receipt of tenders, but it will not likely be considered.

Back to England.—Sergeant Foster, R.A., who has been stationed at Work Point for the last two years, left by the Charnier this morning for England. He will take a further course at Shoeburyness. The sergeant was well known in the city and was very popular. He was instructed for the Fifth Regiment in their last two courses. Last evening his fellow-sergeants presented him with a handsome gold-headed cane as a mark of their esteem. The following inscription was engraved upon the head: "Sergeant E. H. Foster, from His Comrades. R. A. R. E."

James Bay Flats.—The pumps which are to be used in emptying James Bay after the cofferdam has been sunk, and which are to be used in emptying the bay, are expected to be started at the lowest tide on Tuesday. Everything is now in readiness, and all that Engineer Topp is waiting for is the lowest tide. The pumps are immense ones, and the bay should be dry in a very short time. Then the work of erecting the wall will be rushed. First the piles will have to be sawed off, and then the spaces in between them filled with rock, and the broken stone from the filling purposes is being obtained in the park.

Vancouver Island Veterans.—Members of the Veterans' Association are nominating for the annual meeting to be held tonight at the Pioneer hall, on Broad street, at 8 o'clock, and as business of importance concerning the association will be discussed, a full meeting is expected. The report of the colonel, for the first year, will be read, and new officers will be elected to serve for the year commencing tonight. Arrangements will be made at the same time for the reading of a series of papers similar to those read last winter at the monthly meetings of the association, which proved so interesting.

DUVAL VS. MAXWELL.

Notes of the Reasons for Judgment in Case of G. R. Maxwell, M.P.

The Chief Justice.—The preliminary objection upon which the court below dismissed the petition was simply this: That whilst the petition was filed within 40 days after the polling, a copy of the petition required by the English Rules of court (made applicable by the Controverted Elections Act, 49 Vic., Cap. 9, Sec. 34), was not filed with the petition nor until the time limited for filing a petition had expired. The petition was filed on the 5th of January, 1901, but a copy was not filed until the 17th or 18th day of January, 1901, the latter dates being subsequent to the expiration of the time for filing the petition. With great respect for the opinion of those from whom I differed in the Ligar case, I must say that I still adhere to all that I said in my judgment in that case. My views, however, did not prevail, and it was determined by the majority of the court that a non-compliance with the rule requiring the filing of a copy contemporaneously with the filing of the petition was a fatal omission. It was suggested on the argument that the case could be distinguished from the Ligar case, for the petition in that case was not filed until the 17th or 18th day of January, 1901, the latter dates being subsequent to the expiration of the time for filing the petition. RECENT LIVE STOCK SALES.

Samples of What Prices are Paid For Thoroughbred Cattle.

It may interest some of those who have purchased Shorthorn stock at the recent sales to note prices paid at the numerous auction sales of stock in the Dominion States, which have been held during the last month:

At Newton, Iowa, October 2 and 3, no female started at less than $200, and 10 of them exceeded the $1,000 mark. Nine head averaged $883 in one lot, in another lot the average price for 54 head was $650. The following day at the same place 41 head averaged $220, 75. The same date at New Sharon, also in Iowa, 52 head averaged $211.15. On the 14th of October, at Columbus, Iowa, 47 head averaged $111.50; on the 17th at Kalona, Iowa, 26 averaged $231. On the 22nd of October at Kansas City, 50 head averaged $177, $185 being the highest figure reached. On the same date a sale of Herefords was conducted, and 135 head averaged $253, only one animal of the lot selling below $100. One of the most interesting sales of the month was the Marr & Dudgeon sale in Scotland. This was the annual sale of calves from their well known herds. It was feared that the closing of the Argentine ports against foreign cattle prices might be materially affected. The average, however, was about the same as usual. The highest price paid was $3,200 by Sir William Mills, Bristol, of Dorsetshire, for a number of Canadian purchased calves at the sale, including Messrs. Platt, Edwards, Carrell and Cochrane. Mr. Edwards paid $1,500 for a Collynie calf by Scottish Champion, Mr. Platt bought a number of calves by Lavender Victor, for $1,550. Mr. Dudgeon's 20 calves averaged $157.11.13, say $750. Mr. Marr's 19 head $110.73.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE DAIRY COW

Mission Farmers Listen to Instructive Addresses From Mr. Andrew Elliott.

A regular meeting of the Mission District Farmers' Institute was held in the agricultural hall, Mission City, on Thursday, 31st ultimo. Sessions were held at 3 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Mr. Andrew Elliott addressed the meeting at both sessions. In the afternoon on "Dairying and the Dairy Cow," and in the evening on "Hogs and Sheep." The weather being bad, the attendance was small. The chair was taken by the vice-president, Mr. J. B. Cade. Mr. Elliott first touched on the varieties of the dairy cow, passing on to the audience the great necessity of keeping only the best strains of the particular breed they may fancy. Some breeds, of course, gave better results in special lines, but the great point was to have the best families, with proven returns, in the breed the individual most fancied. He would recommend farmers going more into the butter business. The export business in cheese was large but not promising of as good returns as the butter, which at present was in its infancy. He spoke most emphatically on the matter of cleanliness in every detail of the dairy business, and assured his hearers that nothing was a more fruitful source of failure than lack of cleanliness in the product, caused either through dirt in the handling or strong taint-producing feeding. He concluded his address by touching on the matter of length of milking period in the animal, pointing out that six months' milking brought no profits, nine months being the least any farmer should have an animal to milk. At the evening session he spoke on "Hogs and Sheep," in an informal way, the meeting taking the form more of a discussion than a lecture, and much good, useful information was obtained from the gentleman in regard to sheep. He stated that such bad reports had reached him in regard to fluke in sheep that he could not recommend farmers doing much with them.

The session adjourned about 10:30 with a vote of thanks to Mr. Elliott.

PRINCIPAL RESIGNS.
Mr. A. B. McNeill, of North Ward School, Going Into Business in Vancouver.

Mr. A. B. McNeill, principal of the North Ward school, has resigned his position and will go to Vancouver to enter into business. It is his wish to leave at once, but this is a matter which the board of school trustees will consider at a meeting to be held today. Only recently a discussion took place on the necessity of binding teachers for a full term, so that they could not leave on a minute's notice and interfere with the work of the school. In the case of Mr. McNeill, it is understood that it is

Meeting of Navy League

Many Matters Discussed at Last Session of the Local Branch.

Movement to Form Branch in Vancouver Not Very Encouraging.

The usual monthly meeting of the B. C. branch of the Navy League was held yesterday afternoon, when in the absence of the President, Sir Henry P. P. O'Connell, Mr. A. B. Fraser, president, and the following were present: Capt. Cox, Messrs. W. H. Langley, F. W. Vincent, C. S. Barker, G. T. Devereux, S. A. Roberts and J. Peirson. The Bishop of Columbia, Mr. Justice Drake and Mr. Justice Martin were prevented from attending owing to absence from the city, and Captain Devereux on account of unexpected duties arising at the last moment.

After the routine business and reading of correspondence, it was shown that in the Trafalgar celebrations this branch would be represented by an appropriate wreath in the decorations of the Nelson monument in London.

Correspondence with the colony of Newfoundland elicited the information that they are looking to His Majesty's government for imperial legislation on the subject of working naval reserves, meanwhile a circular has been issued by this branch of the league with a view to ascertaining what numbers of seafarers, fishermen or sailors of the mercantile marine would be willing to become members of a branch of the Royal Naval Reserve, providing such can be established in this province. The secretary reported that the effort to form a local branch of the league at a public meeting in Vancouver on Tuesday last had not been so successful as desired, and as the diligent exertions of Capt. Eddie, the local honorary secretary, deserved. Counter attractions, together with want of knowledge of the importance of naval matters doubtless prevented what might otherwise have been a success. The Mayor expressed his sympathy with the movement, and the remarks by Mr. Justice Martin, Mr. J. Peirson and Capt. Eddie cannot fail to be productive of better results.

Touching the matter relating to offering prizes for essays on naval subjects from schools, having met with but tardy response from persons interested in education, it was thought, seeing that the Christmas holidays were so near at hand, that the question had better be deferred for the present.

It is contemplated very shortly to hold a special meeting to have discussion pertaining to the formation of the branch of the Royal Naval Reserve.

SYNOPSIS.

The high barometer area which was spreading towards this province yesterday has traveled eastward to Manitoba, and has given place to lower pressure along the coast. This change will probably cause more rain over the Pacific slope. The weather has been generally fair from the Pacific to Manitoba, mild in this province and Alberta and moderately cold in Manitoba.

The telegraph line between Cape Beale and Alberni seems to be a Jonah. The government should attend to this and have men continually during the winter months looking after the line.

A Case of Kidney Disease That Could Not Be Cured by Ordinary Drugs and Medicines.

THE DREAD DISEASE WAS BANISHED AFTER USE OF TWO BOTTLES OF

Paine's Celery Compound

A Statement Carrying Warning and Encouragement to Every Sufferer.

While the blood is the life of the system, carrying to every part its share of force and energy, it is also the means by which the waste matter, the result of decomposition of the tissues, is removed from the body. If disease has touched the kidneys, there is grave danger, and deadly oppression will settle upon the body and mind.

If you have any of the symptoms of Bright's disease or diabetes, Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine on earth that can stay the ravages of the disease and cure permanently.

G. Kevell, of Dunsford, Ont., testifies as follows:

“For the past 15 years I have been troubled with diseased kidneys. Often while working in a stooping position I would find it difficult to straighten up at once, and could only do so after repeated efforts. While under very severe attacks of my trouble, I became very nervous, and continually had tired, worn-out feelings. My rest at night seemed to do me no good, as I always felt tired in the morning. I had been taking medicines and was getting worse all the time. At last I decided to give Paine's Celery Compound a trial. I procured a bottle, and took it as directed, and found its effect wonderful. I had finished the first bottle of Paine's Celery Compound after I had used the second bottle I felt as well as ever I did in my life. It banished all my aches and pains, and my nervousness disappeared. I can go to bed now and sleep well and rise in the morning rested and refreshed.”

God Save King Edward the VII

Today Will Be the First Official Celebration of the King's Birthday.

Victoria Observes the Day Quietly With No Public Demonstrations.

Since 1842 November 9 has been celebrated in British official circles as the anniversary of the birth of Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, but this year the people of the Empire are called upon to observe it as the birthday of their King. His Majesty was born November 9, 1841. He was created Prince of Wales on the 4th of December of the same year, and when he came to man's estate he exercised the functions of that high position with a wisdom and moderation which have endeared him to the people of the Dominion, and served to create feelings of friendship between those of the United States and the Mother Country, that have acted as a lever to check the Anglophobe sentiment which bubbles over occasionally, on the approach of a presidential election for the benefit of the groundlings. His subsequent visit to India did much to strengthen the loyalty of the heterogeneous population of that great dependency, the Prince winning the hearts of his subjects at every point by his invariably friendly and tactful. After the death of Prince Albert, and the practical retirement of Queen Victoria from public life, the heavy work of royalty devolved upon the Prince and his consort, who, by their wise and benevolent rule, have endeared them to all. On all great state occasions the Royal pair assumed the duties pertaining to the sovereign, and relieved the sorrowing mother from duties which her grief rendered repugnant. In this year, the Prince and Princess became known throughout the United Kingdom as no other royal personages were ever known before, and their contact with the people rendered them respected and beloved second only to Victoria herself.

What better training could a king have? The years brought him ever in closer touch with the hearts of his people, and at length, when Victoria the Good was called away, the young monarch, with grief, consoled himself with the thought that she had left a successor entirely worthy and capable. The events of the past few months have proved that the young monarch is a sovereign who is every inch a king—a wise ruler, who knows the wants and desires of his people, and is determined, by every means in his power, to preserve their liberties.

“The King's Birthday” sounds strange as yet in the ears of British subjects; custom with the old and tradition with the younger generation has made May 24 sacred to the memory of Queen Victoria. It is little to be wondered at, then, that a majority of people will spend today in trying to accuse themselves of the new order of things, and if there are not signs of universal rejoicing abroad, it is not that they do not love and honor the King, but that they do not realize that Time has wrought a radical change in their lives—the death of Queen Victoria created a gap in the family of the Empire felt as keenly as if it had happened in the individual family of every member, and the wound is not yet healed.

The celebration of this, the first anniversary of the birthday of His Majesty King Edward the Seventh, will be very quietly observed in Victoria.

There will be no public demonstrations of loyalty other than the customary salutes fired by the royal navy and the feu de joie by the Imperial troops in garrison. The public offices, Dominion, Provincial and civil, and the banks, and most of the mercantile establishments will be closed.

His Honor Sir Henri Joly will give a dinner to members of the legislature, foreign consuls and other high officials, civil, naval and military, at the Union club.

Many citizens will celebrate the day at dinner, luncheon and dancing parties. The Victoria Hunt club will hold a cross-country run, meeting at Colwood at 2.45 p. m.

At St. Saviour's church, Esquimalt, special service will be held at 11 a. m., and there will be special prayers for the sovereign and the Anglican and Roman Catholic churches.

The Victoria Golf club will hold the first monthly medal competition for men at the Oak Bay links.

A practice game of Rugby football will take place at Oak Bay park in the afternoon.

There will be a special matinee for ladies and children at the A. O. U. W. hall by members of the Saroy company, in the afternoon.

The Vancouver Island Veterans' association will meet and elect officers in Pioneer hall at 8 o'clock p. m.

Many will spend the holiday in the open with rod and gun, and the usual week-end excursions to neighboring towns and villages will be taken advantage of to visit friends and relatives.

There will be a match game of Association football between the Columbia and the Garrison at the Caledonia grounds at 3 p. m.

TO SPAN THE MIGHTY FRASER

The New Westminster Bridge Will Be a Triumph of Modern Engineering Skill.

One of the most important public works ever undertaken by the provincial government is the railway and traffic bridge over the Fraser river at New Westminster, tenders for the erection of which are now called for. The necessity for such a structure, to accommodate the rapidly increasing trade of the lower Fraser valley, has been felt for some years, successive governments have acknowledged its importance and discussed them respecting the means of building it, but it remained for Mr. Dunsmuir and his colleagues to take definite and determined action in the matter. At the last session of the legislature the government brought down a bill which provided, among other things, for the raising by loan, on the credit of the province, $500,000 for this bridge, and the house was so impressed with the importance of the proposal that that portion of the Loan Act passed without opposition.

It was among the most popular legislation of the session.

Armed with the requisite authority, the department of lands and works proceeded to take the necessary steps to forward the work. The bridge, when built, will be one of the most notable structures of the kind on the continent of America, ranking with the Victoria bridge at Montreal, and the great engineering creation which spans the Missouri river at Bismarck, Dakota.

The importance of the work and the difficulties attending its successful operation and accomplishment prompted the government to seek for the assistance of the best professional talent available, and acting on this request, the government retained the services of J. J. Waddell, an eminent authority on bridges, whose name is connected with most of the great works in this line in Canada, the United States and Japan.

Mr. Waddell is a Canadian (although his talents have made him a cosmopolitan), who, like his distinguished compatriot, Sir Percy Girouard, has won world-wide fame as a designer of bridges.

Early in the spring, Mr. Waddell and a staff of engineers made a preliminary survey of the locality of the bridge, and after a series of soundings chose a point where the stream is narrowest, opposite the city of New Westminster.

The sudden frosts to which the Fraser is subject, and the tides had to be carefully studied, and every precaution was taken to provide against damage from floods. Some difficulty was encountered in finding suitable approaches and foundations, but finally this was overcome and all that was left to be considered was the design of the bridge.
